Striking of Dry Lime-stone in Sinking Shaft Permits Excavation To Proceed Much Faster.

RENEWAL OF RADIO TESTS IS FAILURE

Bulb on Collins' Chest Either Burned Out or Jarred From Socket, According to Observers.

Cave City, Ky., February 11.—Once again, rescue workers expect to reach Floyd Collins within 24 hours. Excavation of the 60-foot shaft to the cavern's captive, which is now more than two-thirds completed, may be finished by Thursday noon, according to the latest estimates.

More than a week ago, the rescuers each day believed success a matter of only a few hours, but their hopes now seem to be well founded and the digging is progressing at record speed.

New Opening Probed.

A new aperture into the underground region surrounding Collins is being probed. This opening was found to penetrate for at least 100 feet and those who went in that far found stalactites and cave bats. The bats flew further into the unexplored gloom, leaving the suggestion that the newly found cave might furnish another avenue to Collins. A more minute examination of the aperture was made late Wednesday.

Blasting May Be Required. Blasting may be required to crack the shell of this subterranean air pocket or tunnel, whichever it may be. It may not lead anywhere except down, but even if it is only a pocket, four precious feet will have been added to the depth of the rescue shaft.

Some of the diggers estimate that they are within 10 feet of Collins' rock-ribbed den. Carried down by a venture a forecast of the moment of Collins' removal. It might be Wednesday night, he said, or it might come on Thursday, Friday, or Saturday.

Brigadier General H. H. Denhardt, Wednesday night received a telegram from the Mayor of Kansas City, Mo., that said that Floyd Collins had been arrested there.

Denhardt Laughs at Report.

Denhardt laughed at this report, declaring that there was no doubt whatever that Collins was in the cave. Meanwhile, the racket at the bottom of the shaft goes on as steel and men gradually excavate the natural wall behind which Collins is a captive.

Radio Tests, by which physicians and electricians have sought to determine whether Collins still lived, ended abruptly Wednesday, when it appeared that the electric light bulb on Collins' chest had either burned out or had been jarred from its socket.

BEST MEN UNNERVED BY ENTERING SAND CAVE

Cave City, Ky., February 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—There was something in Sand Cave that unnerved the best men and all of them were absolutely exhausted when they came out. William Hanson, town marshal, testified before the military court of inquiry at the opening of the afternoon session.

He told of the early, unorganized efforts of volunteers to rescue Floyd Collins, entombed in the cave since January 30.

"Johnnie Gerald, a young man known to have a good nerve and a good reputation, volunteered," he said, "to go into the cave if he would be allowed to take a crew, whom he could trust not to pull out loose rock and make the opening more dangerous. He went in and came out a physical wreck."

All Were Exhausted.

"Lieutenant Burdon, of the Louisville fire department," he said, "did the same thing. There was something that unnerved the best men and all of them were absolutely exhausted when they came out."

Asked by Captain Alex M. Chaney if there had been any disorder before or after the rescue, Hanson replied there had, but since the arrival of soldiers, everything had moved in a smooth and most orderly manner.

He said he considered the shaft the only way the rescue might be effected and that the work was in competent hands.

Matlack Is Recalled.

Samuel H. Matlack, of Louisville, was recalled to the stand because a telegram had been received from The Louisville Herald, stating that complaint had been made that Matlack had not received proper consideration in his examination by the court Tuesday.

Matlack said he had made complaint to no one. He said his only dissatisfaction was that the final question put by Captain Chaney was one which no man could answer either "yes" or "no" without condemning himself as a coward.

He said that the report of his testimony was on Page 12, Column 3.

70,000,000 TOWELS STOLEN IN 1924 FROM PULLMAN

Atlantic City, February 11.—Did you get your towel last time you rode in a Pullman car?

If you didn't, almost everyone else got theirs. Approximately 70,000,000 towels were removed from Pullman cars by passengers in 1924, according to Roy Yarnall, of the Pullman company. About the same number of sheets and pillow cases disappeared in the same way.

The Pullman company is trying to think of something to do about it. Most of the towels are believed to have been taken to wash shops.

$37,582 PLEDGED FUND FOR BERRY SCHOOLS IN $1,000,000 DRIVE

Finish This Job--Now!

Three days ago The Constitution undertook the task of raising $500,000 in Georgia to complete the $1,000,000 which Adolph S. Ochs had asked this state to subscribe toward a $1,000,000 for the Berry Schools, near Rome.

Asa Candler, Jr., had offered to give half of the $100,000 if Georgia would raise the other half and if The Constitution would undertake the campaign.

Now, three days after the appeal was first sent out, a total of $37,582 is pledged. Only $12,418 is needed. Georgians ought to send that in not later than Thursday's mail.

On Wednesday afternoon the Rome Chamber of Commerce pledged itself to raise $15,000. In addition to this, voluntary subscriptions of $22,582 have been received. That, for three days campaign, is magnificent.

Georgians, let's go with the balance! There seems no doubt that before Mr. Ochs comes back to Atlanta next week, on his return journey from Florida to New York, the $100,000 will be awaiting him.

Then, when he gets back to his office as publisher of The New York Times, it will be his part of the work to raise the additional $900,000 he has promised to secure.

But, while there is no doubt that Georgia will quickly give the balance of $12,418 on her quota, let's make sure, at once. Send in your check today and be satisfied that your neighbor will do likewise.

Founder of Berry Schools Honored by Georgia Solons

MISS BERRY LAYS PLANS FOR FUTURE OF WORK

BY RALPH T. JONES.

During its regular session in the summer of 1924 the Georgia state legislature passed resolutions commending the work of Miss Martha Berry for the youth of the state, through the Berry schools, which she founded 23 years ago, a few miles north of Rome, Ga.

In that resolution the legislature formally dubbed Miss Berry "a distinguished citizen of Georgia." It could have with none to challenge the truth of the statement, called her "Georgia's first citizen." For the work this gentlewoman of northwest Georgia has done, and to which she has devoted her entire life and personal estate, is work that stands second to that of no other Georgian during the past 50 years.

Some day, it is to be hoped, the story of Miss Berry's life will be properly told by a writer with the ability, the understanding and the heart of a man, in the meantime it should be the ambition of all loyal Georgians to know this woman and to see the work she has done, and to understand the tremendous effort she has had to put forth in the doing of it.

At Mount Berry, Ga., three miles north of Rome, there is located this school with lands covering six thousand acres. There are, properly speaking, three schools on the property. One, the boys' primary school. Another, the boys' high school, and the third, the girls' school. Here, every year, 650 boys and girls, young men and women from the mountains of north Georgia, are taught the crafts and sciences, the citizenship and character, that will make them valuable citizens of the future.

Taken from their cabin homes in the recesses of north Georgia hills, many of them totally illiterate when they first reach the schools, they receive educations that make them eagerly sought after as leaders and teachers in other colleges. They go, all over the state, carrying lessons of the nobility of work and the joy of tasks properly performed. They go, many of them, back to their homes in

MERCURY SLATED FOR FURTHER DROP AS LEADER IS SHOT

First Snow Flurries of New Year, Whipped by High Winds, Noticed During Night.

Little relief from the cold weather which suddenly swooped down on Atlanta Wednesday, bringing an abrupt end to the spring-like temperatures of the last week, is indicated in the prediction broadcast by C. E. von Herrmann, in charge of the local weather bureau.

Flurries of snow, accompanied by high winds, fell at intervals during the night.

With the thermometer registering 27 degrees at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, and still falling, forecasts are that the cold snap will continue for several days, with a possibility that the chilling wind of Wednesday afternoon and night will continue to hold high level.

A further drop this morning, which will send the mercury sliding at least as low as the 24-degree mark, and possibly as low as 20 degrees, is forecast by Mr. von Herrmann.

Gardeners Warned. Although the wind will prevent much damage to young plants which have sprouted above the ground, Mr. von Herrmann has warned that precautions should be taken to prevent freezing of such plants. He has advised all gardeners to take every possible step to cover or otherwise protect the plants.

Farmers are urged to take advantage of a predicted cold, clear weather to kill bugs, and it is expected

Edison, 78, Sleeps Six Hours Nightly To Please His Wife

FOUR HOURS ENOUGH, ELECTRICAL GENIUS SAYS

Fort Myers, Fla., February 11.—Admitting that he "felt fine, despite his wife's insistence that he sleep six hours a day instead of his customary four," Thomas A. Edison Wednesday celebrated his 78th birthday at his winter home here.

Except for a deluge of telegrams of congratulations from all over the world and the giving of his customary birthday interview which, in recent years, has become a national institution, the day was a quiet one.

In these answers to questions put to him, Mr. Edison declared that a world, with power to enforce its decrees, is essential to the peace of the world; praised President Coolidge, declined to admit any noticeable improvements in the manners of the rising generation or any elevation of the standards of American education since his famous questionnaire revealed its alleged lack of practicality, and refused to undertake to advise young men, because "they take no advice."

The genial wizard of electricity found enjoyment in a question as to his hours of sleep.

"I see no necessity for increasing my hours of sleep, but my wife thinks differently. So I take it in two sections—first four for myself, after which I wake up, and then take two more hours of sleep to satisfy her."

"All the nations have had a terrible example in the world war, but memory is short," he said. "The sooner the world clock is established, the better. But it must have something to do with the rising generation or any elevation

$15,000 IS GIVEN BY ROME CITIZENS AS PART IN DRIVE

Only $12,418 Needed To Meet Offer of Asa G. Candler, Jr., To Match Fund of $50,000.

GEORGIA'S QUOTA NEAR COMPLETION

First Unit of Million-Dollar Sum for Berry Endowment Practically Raised.

Headed by a $15,000 pledge from the Rome Chamber of Commerce, contributions totaling $17,520 Wednesday were received in the campaign to raise $100,000 in Georgia for the Berry schools as the first unit of a nation-wide drive for a fund of $1,000,000, which Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of The New York Times, several days ago offered to secure for the famous north Georgia institution of learning.

The $15,000 Rome contribution was pledged at a called meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce of that city Wednesday afternoon in the form of resolutions pledging the organization body to raise $100,000 for the Berry schools fund of $1,000,000 now being secured in Georgia by The Constitution.

The action of the Rome chamber of commerce organization and of individual contributions Wednesday bring the total subscribed in Georgia now to $37,582, exclusive of the $50,000 offered by Asa Candler, Jr., to match the $50,000 being raised by the state.

In other words, with the Rome pledge officially made, it is now only necessary to secure $12,418 to have the entire $100,000 pledged by Mr. Ochs completely subscribed.

$2,510 Received Here.

Subscriptions received in Atlanta on Wednesday totaled $2,510, which added to the $15,000 Rome fund and the $20,072 previously reported, made a total of $37,582.

Harold Hirsch, prominent Atlanta lawyer, who has already subscribed $100 personally to the fund, Wednesday telephoned Robert C. Alston, chairman of the board of trustees for the Berry schools, pledging himself to secure 12 other subscriptions.

A dozen prominent business and professional men of the city, while for various reasons they could not name the definite amount they would give, stated Wednesday that they would make substantial subscriptions within the next few days.

J. P. Stevens, of the J. P. Stevens Engraving company, sent in his check for $400 with a note commending the work done at Berry, while W. W. Banks, executive manager of the Citizens and Southern bank, in subscribing $500, stated that nothing had given him greater pleasure in years than the opportunity to help in this work.

Haverly Contributes.

J. J. Haverly, president of the Haverly Furniture company, gave $250 and stated that, were it not for other causes to which he had already pledged himself, he would have made his subscription larger. He also spoke highly from his knowledge of the work the schools are doing.

Peculiar interest attaches to four of the subscriptions received Wednesday in that they come from graduates of the Berry schools, all four of whom are now serving the state in teaching other the lessons they learned at Berry. Out of their salaries as teachers they are, they write, proud of this opportunity to "do something for Berry." Two of these subscribers are serving at the Methodist Orphanage at Macon; they are Misses Lillian Smith and Jessie Wooten. They send $25 each. Another is A. J. Ammons, superintendent of the Tift county schools. He sends $20, and the fourth, a member of the Berry grad-

FINDS AGE NOT 93, BUT 103, WOMAN DIES FROM WORRY

Cleveland, Ohio, February 11.—Discovery that she was 103 years old instead of 93, as she thought, is believed to have hastened the death of Mrs. Maria Hines, one of Cleveland's few centenarians.

Mrs. Hines was healthy and spry until a few months ago when a grandson asked to see her birth certificate, issued in London, England, looked like.

Finding it dated July 28, 1822, the grandson called it to Mrs. Hines' attention. She became ill, members of her family said, through worry over the 10 years' discrepancy, and died yesterday. She came here from London over 70 years ago.

$5,000 BRIBE PAID SARTAIN WITNESS SAYS

One Prisoner Made Chauffeur Following Payment of Big Sum, Witness Declares.

SALE OF PAROLES CHARGED TO RHIEL

Long-Drawn-Out Case Indicated as Probe Enters Fourth Day in Federal Court.

After Graham Baughn, inmate of the Atlanta penitentiary, had testified that he had been granted a parole which previously had been denied, after swearing out a warrant for A. E. Sartain, former warden at the prison on December 23, 1924, the prosecution Wednesday afternoon introduced records containing a grand jury resolution recommending parole to the federal parole board.

Baughn, immaculately clad, and answering every question in well-phrased English, Wednesday told the jury trying Sartain, L. J. Fletcher, former deputy warden and Lawrence Rhiel, of Columbus, Ohio, on charges of conspiracy to accept bribes, that Rhiel attempted to "sell paroles" to Savannah men at the penitentiary.

Baughn, a former inmate of the federal penitentiary, sentenced after the big "rum ring" expose in Savannah, sat on the witness stand practically all day and under the most withering barrage of questions fired at any witness so far in the trial, testified that former Warden Sartain, appointed C. C. Tuten as his chauffeur after receiving a bribe of $5,000.

Defense Lays Plans. When court had adjourned Wednesday afternoon, the third day of the trial, United States District Attorney Clint W. Hager intimated that the prosecution would not complete introduction of testimony until Friday.

Defense attorneys subsequently announced that they already had summoned 15 witnesses and that others might be called. Indications were that the trial would not be completed this week. It is expected that other prisoners at the penitentiary who testified before the grand jury which returned the indictments would be called to occupy the witness stand today.

Although District Attorney Hager declined to say what further witnesses the government would call, it is believed that George Remy, millionaire "bootleg king," will be one of the witnesses called. Other witnesses who probably will be called by the prosecution include Mannie Kessler and Morris Sweetwood, alleged wealthy New York bootleggers.

Baughn, formerly a lawyer, followed Willie Haar on the stand Wednesday afternoon and related how Rhiel attempted to "sell him a parole for $2,000" early in 1924 when he came to Savannah with Father Thomas P. Hayden, former Catholic chaplain at the penitentiary, to collect $10,000 for "special privileges" to be granted several men convicted in the "rum ring" expose.

Parole Explained.

Baughn testified that Rhiel asked him to get an attorney to help him to get an attorney and if one could not be obtained within that length of time the court would appoint one.

Judge Orders Trial.

Virlyn Moore, attorney employed by Griffith, was called and stated that he had only been employed to handle a particular phase of the case, and could not begin the trial. Another attorney employed by Griffith, Ellis Barrett, could not be located, it was said.

Judge Humphries then appointed Attorney Joe Ewing as counsel for the defense and the trial got underway.

While the court had a recess of one hour Judge Humphries raised Griffith's bond to $15,000 from $5,000.

Lieutenant John Oliver, of the county police, was the first witness to take the stand for the state and told of the finding of one of the most up-to-date stills ever confiscated in Fulton county, and that supplies on hand at the residence were enough to

JETT ACTION ENDS TRAFFIC BUREAU

Official Authorization Received by Acting Chief Brings Immediate Abolishment of Office.

The traffic bureau of the police department Wednesday passed into innocuous desuetude, following a special order issued by Acting Police Chief E. L. Jett officially abolishing the department and assigning its former officials and clerks to other duties.

Although Mayor Walter A. Sims Saturday officially approved the ordinance doing away with the traffic bureau, which city council passed during the early part of last week, it did not become effective, insofar as police officials were concerned, until Chief Jett issued the special order Wednesday morning.

Chief Jett explained that he had no authority for discontinuing the bureau's identity until he was officially informed of the action of the city council and the mayor, which would be in the nature of a certified copy of the ordinance furnished him by the city clerk's office. This was received yesterday.

There was a commotion in the stuffy room. Paul Wilson had leaped to his feet. A revolver was in his hand. He pressed the weapon to his heart.

People sprang toward him. But suddenly he was quiet and he seated himself, putting the weapon away.

There was a furtive gleam in his eyes. He had seen Chester Dun, nephew of his wife, Diana's relatives, in their desire for respectability, had checked him in his wish to carry out his wife's request before he could raise the necessary money.

Beside Dun sat a newspaperman, Paul Wilson, a newspaperman. They had written stories about "Diana" when she danced, nude, on the moonlit beaches. He hated relatives also, and civilization, and the policy city of Gary, beyond the stained glass windows of the undertaker's parlor.

With the last words of the clergyman he was on his feet again, leaping at Dun and the newspaperman. "There are two fellows I'm going to get," he shouted.

BOOTLEGGER 'KING' DRAWS FIVE YEARS IN FULTON COURT

M. C. Griffith, "Society Bootlegger," Convicted in Short Trial Before Judge Humphries.

M. C. Griffith, alleged "society bootlegger king," of 163 Ponce de Leon avenue, was sentenced Wednesday afternoon to five years, "neither more nor less," at the Georgia state farm at Milledgeville by Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court.

Griffith was arrested January 24 by county police who entered a residence at 163 Ponce de Leon avenue and found a distillery in operation, it is said. With Griffith, who was arrested on the scene, were two negroes, D. Nedwood and Henry Nelson.

Products of the distillery were being bottled and sold as gin, Scotch and other fine liquors, it is stated.

Quite a controversy arose in the courtroom at the beginning of the trial Wednesday morning when Attorney J. Walter LeCraw, an associate of William Schley Howard, attorney for the defense, asked for a continuance on the grounds that Mr. Howard could not be present to defend his client as he was engaged in the Sartain-Fletcher federal prison probe.

Judge Humphries declared that the court would not be "trifled with" and that the case previously had been put off and he would not continue it again. He added that he would give the defense just one hour in which to get an attorney and if one could not be obtained within that length of time the court would appoint one.

Judge Humphries then appointed Attorney Joe Ewing as counsel for the defense and the trial got underway.

While the court had a recess of one hour Judge Humphries raised Griffith's bond to $15,000 from $5,000.

The horse never tires out, never runs away and it doesn't have to be fed oats. Thus it fits in admirably with the white house economy program.

Dr. Joel Boone, the president's physician, recommends it as good exercise. "You can work up a sweat on it in no time," he said. "I know, because I have tried it."

HOLDER PROTESTS NAMING PRIVATE AUDITING FIRM

Chairman of Highway Board Says State Auditing Department Created for This Work.

SLATE SAYS FORCE PREPARED FOR TASK

Pace, Author of Bill Creating Department, Upholds Contention of Chairman Holder.

Whether a sweeping and far-reaching investigation of the affairs of the state highway department would be made by the state auditing department, the legal and official auditing agency of the state, or whether an examination would be made by an independent audit company named by the governor at the request of the state highway board and paid out of highway department funds, Wednesday overshadowed all other features of the situation in the department following recent disclosures relative to charges of padded pay rolls.

These disclosures were made in The Constitution on information furnished the newspaper by F. J. Stukes, a timekeeper at the East Point shops, after they had been turned over to the chairman of the state highway board by this paper.

After Governor Clifford Walker had appointed C. R. Dawson, of Atlanta, to conduct the audit of accounts at the East Point shops, it developed that Sam J. Slate, state auditor, according to his statement, had not been requested to make the audit although he told the governor he was ready to begin work Tuesday.

Appointment News Delayed. It developed Wednesday that selection of Auditor Dawson to conduct the audit was made by Governor Walker last Saturday after he had held a conference with Mr. Anderson and Mr. Bennett, two of the three members of the highway board. Authority to conduct the examination was not issued until Monday prior to the governor's departure for Macon. Governor Walker held a conference Monday with State Auditor Slate, but did not designate Mr. Slate to handle the case, it was learned from Mr. Slate Wednesday.

"While I do not care to be drawn into any controversy, I want the people of Georgia to know that the state auditing department was ready to begin an investigation of affairs of the state highway department last Tuesday if Governor Walker had instructed us to do the work," he said.

"It is true that the auditing department has a large amount of work ahead of it, as it always has with the force at our disposal. But this work was of a nature that could have been handled in an emergency and could have been rescheduled later."

It was indicated by Mr. Slate that, regardless of the report of the special

Oldest Member of Congress Recalls Hearing Lincoln Deliver Second Inaugural

General Isaac Sherwood
Describes Simple Ceremony Upon Raw, Blustering March 4, 1865.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

(Copyright, 1925, by United News.)
Washington, February 11.—Those who remember Abraham Lincoln are hardly a handful here in the capital where he lived his critical years, but these few old men are recalling the dramatic career they witnessed, as the country observes Lincoln's birthday.

The atmosphere of those old days, when the capital was a pint of a building and only a mud road led down Pennsylvania avenue, was recreated by these veterans, as they told of the visits of Lincoln to soldiers quartered nearby, his second inauguration, the assassination, the sadness of the country at the war president's death, and an incident of his campaign days.

Sherwood Tells of Inaugural.
General Isaac I. Sherwood, of Ohio, now closing a long term of service in the house, is the only man in public life who heard Lincoln's second inaugural address, in a ceremony that contrasts strikingly with recent inaugurations. General Sherwood described the scene Wednesday as a troop of carpenters outside were hammering away on the massive platform from which the inaugural address of President Coolidge will be made, and broadcast by modern magic all over the land.

"Lincoln stood on a small, wooden platform. Before him was a little stand with a glass of water on it. There were just enough seats for members of the house and senate and officials. The crowd—about 10,000—stood out in front," Sherwood said.

Handkerchief Around Neck.
"A raw March wind was blowing. Lincoln had a white handkerchief about his neck to protect him from the cold. He stood there, tall, and with lines of care about his face. His long neck stuck out from his collar. His voice could be heard at the outskirts of the crowd.

"I can hear him now as he uttered the peroration of that address," the old man closed his eyes and quoted the words.

Sherwood, who fought with the 23rd army corps through the war, was promoted from colonel to brigadier general by Lincoln because of his action in the battles of Franklin, Nashville and Resaca.

Just Like Family Funeral.
William E. Morgan, now a guard in the capital, was here on the day of the funeral, and passed through the rotunda of the capital with the long line that went through to take a last look at the president as he lay in state.

"It was just like a family funeral," he said. "They came here from all over the country. And the feeling of uncertainty—everybody was wondering about what was going to happen—you could feel it in the atmosphere."

Morgan was a member of the Eighth Illinois cavalry, stationed at Fairfax, Va., nearby. He came with a troop which participated in the funeral, but was unable to take part as his horse was injured.

"That night, I went to a prayer meeting down in the old foundry Methodist church to hear 'Boston' Corbett talk about his religious experiences. 'Boston,' you know, is the man who later killed Wilkes Booth."

Negroes Mourned Death.
Morgan remembers particularly how the negroes mourned at the death of Lincoln, in their efforts to make some appropriate demonstration of their grief.

"You could walk along by the negro shanties and see black dresses hanging out, pieces of black dress goods—anything they could find."

William G. Gallagher, housekeeper of the senate, heard Lincoln make a campaign speech in his hometown of Meriden, Conn. He was a boy of 14.

"Lincoln made some remark about what he would do when he got in the presidential chair. There was a fellow there from another town. He jumped up and shouted:

"But you're not there yet," Lincoln Not Bothered.

"Everybody shouted to throw him out. But Lincoln wasn't bothered. He said:

"Don't put him out. I want to talk to him."

"And there wasn't a bit more trouble. The fellow sat down and didn't say another word."

Parents of Representative Rathbone, of Illinois, a young engaged couple occupied the box with Lincoln and his wife at Ford's theater. His father was slashed on the arm with a dagger in attempting to stop Booth when the assassin jumped to the stage.

behind it to enforce its decrees. Otherwise, it will be useless.

"If we had a world court and all the nations contributed their quota of police power to enforce its decrees, it might prevent war altogether, or at least prevent them from becoming of great magnitude."

Speaking of his own work and the progress of science, Mr. Edison said he had plenty of electrical developments in the making, "but they hang back." Radio can never take the place of the telephone, he said.

Mr. Edison will remain here for about two months, taking an almost complete rest, with virtually all of his leisure time spent in reading.

Yesterday he and Henry Ford, his next-door neighbor and an old friend, took a trip up the Orange river in a small motor boat.

COOLIDGE EXERCISES
UPON HOBBY HORSE

commended it to the president at lunch several months ago. The horse was ordered and shipped into the white house with great secrecy. The president indulged in his hobby undetected until one day he became confused and pressed two buttons at the same time. This caused the horse to rear and balk, injuring the delicate mechanism. Navy yard electricians were called in to administer veterinary first-aid and the news of the president's hobby leaked out. One of his best friends confirmed it and ascribed the president's good health to his faithful mount.

"It's the most harmless hobby the president has," that irrepressible democratic jester, Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, drawled. "I should think riding an electric hobby horse would be a great intellectual stimulation."

Some facetious persons around the senate lobby said they heard the president rode in his carpet slippers, to which spurs had been sewed. One asked if the president would ride his horse in the inaugural parade. Two feeters argued stubbornly as to whether the president rode in his bath robe or in a special indoor riding habit. One much-traveled person remarked that there was nothing unique about the horse, that the former kaiser had one at his desk and refused to sit in such a plebeian receptacle as an office chair.

Quentin Roosevelt once smuggled a Shetland pony up the white house elevator, but this is the first time so far as known that a full-sized mount was ever discovered in the mansion.

The president's friends, while joining in the laugh, insist that the riding of mechanical horses is one of the best forms of indoor exercise ever developed and that many business men who lack the time for leisurely outdoor horseback riding keep in trim this way.

There is no doubt, as Secretary Sleppe said just before he retired, that the president is in better physical shape now than when he became president, and this fact alone, intimates argue, justifies the president in adopting this unique method of exercise.

The president rode outdoors on a war department horse a few times when he first became president, but soon dropped the practice.

IN PROBING ROADS

auditor named by the governor at the request of the highway board, an auditing force will be made up of the present work on another department is finished.

It became known Wednesday that Mr. Slate, while in no way reflecting either upon the integrity nor the ability of Mr. Dawson, had been asked that he would report to officially endorse the report made as a result of the audit by the Dawson firm, declaring that he could not accept responsibility for an audit made by anybody not named by him as state auditor, and whose work was not done under his supervision.

Mr. Slate was in Washington last week on official business and did not return to Atlanta until Monday, the appointment of Dawson having been made before his return to the city and before he had been conferred with upon the subject.

Governor Clifford Walker declared that he employed the special audit to make the investigation because of the limit of force of the auditor's office. Following is the statement of the governor outlining his position:

"The legislature was advised that the meager salaries and limited number of men fixed for the auditing department could not secure a force sufficient to make detail audits of all the business of the state and its institutions. Mr. Slate is doing most constructive work in suggesting economies to be effected in the state highway department, and in preparing budgets looking to a systematic and scientific conduct of the business of the state. This is of infinitely more importance to the state than the checking of accounts and reporting findings thereon."

"Until additional accountants are furnished to him, current assistance must be employed to make special audits. Faced by an emergency which demanded a thorough and immediate examination of the affairs of the highway department, which could not be delayed to await its turn with the audit department without calling the auditor and his limited force off of equally important matters in which they could probably render more valuable service, members of the highway department requested authority to employ the thoroughly competent auditing firm of C. R. Dawson to begin at once a special examination and this request has been granted. A full report when made will be given to the public."

Governor Clifford Walker's reasons for declining to call on State Auditor Slate to make the investigation formed the chief topic discussed by officials of the highway department and other departments at the capital Wednesday.

His appointee, C. R. Dawson, has been engaged in making audits of the highway department for several years. His firm made the 1922 audit and the 1923 audit, in both of which the department was given clean bills, while no audit was made in 1924, according to information obtained at the state auditor's office.

Mr. Dawson was acceptable to W. R. Neel, state highway engineer, who is a cousin of Governor Walker, and other officials of the highway department. Mr. Neel, the engineer in charge of the department, and Mr. Dawson, who will conduct the audit, are close friends, living in the same apartment house at 859 West Peachtree street.

Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway commission, insisted Wednesday that the state auditing department should have been named to make the investigation. He strongly opposed any investigation made by an outside firm of auditors named by the governor at the request of a majority of the members of the state highway board, the outside auditor to receive pay for the work from highway funds.

"I have no objection to Mr. Dawson or anyone else making a thorough investigation of the affairs of the state highway department, and am anxious that an investigation be made as quickly as possible and all facts be furnished to the public," Chairman Holder said. "I think beyond question that Auditor Sam J. Slate should be in full charge of the investigation. The state auditing department was created by the legislature for the very purpose of auditing accounts of all the departments, and the auditing department as now constituted, is entirely capable and efficient. An investigation by the state auditor would be official and would save the state a considerable sum of money, probably $5,000 or $8,000."

Independent Audit Sought.
Efforts to have an audit of books of the state highway department made by an independent firm instead of the state auditing department, the legal agency of the state, were made by the highway board, headed by Mr. Anderson, of Macon, member of the state highway board, it developed Wednesday in the course of the probe now on at the East Point plant of the department.

Mr. Anderson at that time wrote Attorney General George M. Napier asking him if the highway board possessed authority to employ "a particular auditing firm" to make such examination of the highway department as he desired for such purpose, but suggested that in an emergency the matter could be laid before the governor for his decision.

As officials were discussing the auditing situation, the investigation of the charges of padded payrolls at East Point continued, one phase of the work being conducted by Mr. Dawson and the other by a force of clerks under direction of H. G. Spahr, treasurer. Both Mr. Dawson and Mr. Spahr said it would be all probability impossible to make any announcement concerning the specific charge before noon Thursday, and probably the announcement would be deferred until the next day.

Investigation of the charges of padded payrolls came as a result of disclosures made by Timekeeper Dawson, who furnished information to the board. Judge Stanley S. Bennett, of Quitman, member of the board, tabulated the information and list of names furnished by Stukes and agreed to call a meeting of the board to discuss the matter.

How to Make Pine
Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $1.00.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pine in a pint bottle and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and tastes very pleasant.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistent loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine Co., E. Wayne, Ind.

Where Mountain Boys and Girls Get Their Chance of Life

The Berry schools at Mount Berry, Ga., probably are doing the most successful work of any institution devoted to the education of poor boys and girls from the mountain regions of Georgia.

The picture to the left above shows a group of the students in the girls' high school department, with Miss Martha Berry, head, founder and inspiration of the schools, in the center. To the right is one of the classes in the boys' high school. It will be noted, by costumes worn by both boys and girls, that Berry believes not only in blackboard education but in giving practical experience in the crafts and sciences which will equip students for their life after graduation.

Below are shown a boy and girl of the poor mountaineer class, in the highlands of north Georgia. It is from these regions that many of Berry students come. At Berry they glimpse, for the first time, possibilities of life and service and the schools transform them from illiterate, helpless children into magnificent specimens of trained men and women. The mountain folk of north Georgia are descended from the purest of Anglo-Saxon stock. In their veins flows the blood of the pioneers of the nation and it needs only the opportunity, such as Berry gives, to make of them the finest type of leaders for the state and the nation.

Rome Rallies To Call.

Individual subscriptions from citizens of Rome have been received in the office of the Constitution at $2,500, but these have not been listed individually in the above tabulation, being credited in the $15,000.

M. M. Griffin, of Rome, for instance, sent in a subscription on Wednesday for George Goethelius Griffin. Other Rome subscriptions received Wednesday included the Battery Machinery company, $200; Rome Hardware company, $250; J. Kuttner & Co., by Isaac May, president, $500; Cary J. King, $300; Mrs. Luke McDonald, $100; Simpson Grocery company, $250; E. E. Houser, $100; Marshall Manufacturing company, $500.

Rome subscriptions previously reported included one for $100 from W. H. Coker and one for $100 from Lee J. Langley.

In sending a subscription for $10, which is included in the list given above, G. S. Chapman, editor of The Sandersville Progress, of Sandersville, Ga., writes:

"Editor of the Constitution: I deem it a great pleasure and privilege to tender my check for $10 toward the Berry schools fund. I am familiar with the work that has been done by this great educational institution and know how hard, at times, it has been for Miss Martha Berry to keep the school going. While it is purely a Georgia institution, yet I fear that Georgians as a whole do not appreciate this fact. Hundreds and thousands of people living in the north Georgia mountains can now read and write, and yet 20 years ago the percentage that could read or write was exceedingly small.

"The advancement in education has been marvelous for these people and this has brought about, of course, an improvement physically, morally and financially. The Berry schools have been worth millions and millions to Georgia and the nation. Every citizen of Georgia who has the interest of the state at heart and who wishes to help mankind should subscribe liberally to the Berry fund being raised by The Constitution to match funds of Mr. Ochs, of The New York Times."

Graham Accepts Challenge.

John M. Graham, president of the Rome Chamber of Commerce, in announcing the acceptance of the $15,000 pledge by that organization, wired as follows:

"At a meeting of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, a resolution was adopted that we pledge ourselves to raise $15,000 for Berry schools fund."

Other telegrams to The Constitution follow:

"Rome, Ga. Have always been a strong supporter of Berry schools and am glad to add $500 to the fund. Cary J. King."

"Rome, Ga. I wish to subscribe $100 to Berry school fund. Consider this a most worthy cause. Mrs. Luke McDonald."

"Rome, Ga. I count it a great privilege to subscribe $100 to Berry fund. W. H. Coker."

Fred K. Hoehler, now of Cincinnati, but until recently a member of the faculty at Berry schools, wired The Constitution as follows:

"Congratulations on your effort on behalf of Berry schools. Three years with Miss Berry convinced me that no more worthy institution than hers exists in America today. Congratulations and thanks to Mr. Candler and people of Georgia for splendid start made to date. Fred K. Hoehler."

$500 Subscription.

"Rome, Ga. Knowing the wonderful work done by the Berry schools since the first conception as a one-room log cabin Sunday school, we feel qualified to say to Georgia and the rest of the world that we know of absolutely no better investment than could be made for the cause of humanity than to subscribe most liberally to the fund so generously guaranteed by Mr. Ochs and Mr. Candler. Let's not stop when the Georgia quota has been reached, but instead subscribe same many times over. The Constitution is authorized to enter our pledge of $500 for this noble cause and have our assurance that we may be depended upon for a similar amount if Georgia will step to the front and show its appreciation of what these schools are doing for its people by very liberally over-subscribing its quota. A half million would not be too much, so keep the good work going and accept our appreciation of what you are doing for this institution. Rome may be depended upon to do her part. Marshall Manufacturing Co."

"Rome, Ga. Glad to subscribe $200 to Berry campaign. Consider this a most worthy cause. Battery Machinery Co."

"Rome, Ga. The Berry schools is a great institution and has my heartiest support. Am glad to subscribe $100. E. E. Houser."

"Rome, Ga. We believe in the Berry school. We gladly subscribe $250. Rome Hardware Co."

"Rome, Ga. Glad of opportunity of subscribing through Rome Chamber of Commerce $500 toward Berry campaign. Wishing you much success in this worthy cause. J. Kuttner & Co. By Isaac May, president."

"Rome, Ga. Enter us for $250 for Berry schools. This institution doing great work. Simpson Grocery Co."

the hills, to carry the gospel of civilization and Christianity.

But this is not supposed to be the story of the school. It is to be, in slight degree, a story about Miss Berry and about the fund of $1,000,000 which Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times has undertaken to raise as an endowment. About, likewise, the $100,000 share in that fund allotted to Georgia which, within three days of the launching of the first appeal, is within $12,000 of fulfillment.

History of Schools.

Ever since Miss Berry founded her great institution, 23 years ago, its main source of subsistence has been the gifts by men and women who have caught a glimpse of the glory of the work. And, in 99 cases out of 100, they have caught that glimpse only when Miss Berry has talked to them herself and has opened the doors of vision a little way, on the glory of unselfish service for the less fortunate.

During all that time Miss Berry has traveled tens of thousands of miles, ever seeking the new friend who would help, no matter how little, in the responsibility of keeping these schools going. For years she has started each new year with an average deficit of $100,000, and forgetting that her woman's strength is limited, she has never hesitated, never let down in her efforts, no matter how tired in body and in spirit, but has gone on and on, and on until the needed money was found.

Now the time has come when friends who understand what she has done say that she must do it no longer. Her strength is not as it was 10 or 20 years ago. It is getting near the time when she must, at least in part, let loose the reins which she has held for so long, and turn them over to other hands.

But, even if Miss Berry must rest, at last, the work of Berry school must go on.

So, Mr. Ochs has caught the vision. He has realized what these schools mean in giving citizens to Georgia and to the nation. And he has promised to raise $1,000,000 in public subscriptions as an endowment for the schools. Properly invested, that endowment will provide the income which in the past Miss Berry has had to seek of each and every man or woman who could, and would, give.

You Can Quickly Limber Up
Sore Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even chronic rheumatic swellings in knee, foot, ankles, arch, hips, elbow, shoulder or finger joints yield to the mighty powerful influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and every live druggist has it.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate through skin and flesh straight down to the ligaments and tendons of the joints—right where the agony starts. Then blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean that you can rub it on often and get thereby results much more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter-irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sort throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that Joint-Ease is mostly dispensed, and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed. Jacobs' Pharmacy sells lots of it.

OPIUM PARLEY HELPS
U. S.-JAP RELATIONS

Geneva, February 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Whatever the international opium conference may have failed to achieve, a new manifestation of friendship between the United States and Japan was given tonight by the exchange of telegrams between the Japanese and American delegations to the conference.

Sagatori Karu, former civil governor of Formosa, and M. Suzumura, head of the Japanese delegation, telegraphed to Representative Steven G. Porter at Paris, expressing profound appreciation for his courtesy and friendly collaboration at Geneva, and adding that the Japanese were delighted to associate with the American delegation in a united endeavor for the common good of humanity.

"It was your lofty idealism which inspired us," says the Japanese message. "We assure you that the government and people of Japan entertain the same sentiment, confident of the ultimate success of your endeavor, which has not only the support of public opinion in the United States, but also in Japan. On this common idealism and mutual understanding we hope to maintain our friendly collaboration for future peaceful relations between Japan and the United States."

Mr. Porter's reply, given out by the Japanese delegation, expressed appreciation for the encouragement and support extended by the Japanese at the opium conference. After remarking that the successful results attained by Japan in the suppression of opium smoking in Formosa pointed the way to a solution of the problem which the world could not ignore. Mr. Porter added that the association of the two delegations at Geneva exemplified to a marked degree the bond of friendship and good will which had ever existed between Japan and the United States.

CITY GARAGE CHIEF OUSTING APPROVED

Dismissal of R. B. Jett, superintendent of the city garage at Hunter and King streets, with nine of the 12 other employees of the garage, which was ordered Tuesday afternoon by the garage committee of city council, was confirmed by the committee Wednesday afternoon after Jett had been given a public hearing.

W. F. Stevens, named Tuesday by the committee to fill the vacancy until a new superintendent can be elected by council next week, will continue to serve until that time, and will be assisted by the three members of the old force who were retained temporarily, according to decisions of the committee following the hearing Wednesday.

The hearing was enlivened by verbal clashes between Jett and W. A. Hansell, chief of construction, which almost precipitated a "bottle royal." Jett also exchanged words with Mayor Walter A. Sims, who, with Mr. Hansell, acted as witnesses against him at the hearing.

Duchess of Jett and the other nine employees followed a visit Tuesday to the garage, on which the mayor and Jett found only one of the men at work. There he demanded Jett, it is charged that the superintendent, after a bitter argument with the mayor, resigned, and "laid off" his nine subordinates.

Later, according to testimony brought out at Wednesday's hearing, Jett changed his mind about resigning and decided to challenge the committee action in ousting him. Testimony of a number of witnesses Wednesday, however, showed that he had resigned.

At the trial, however, Jett contended that he never had resigned, and claimed that the charges that he had loafed during working hours were untrue.

Clashes Frequent.

Jett's clash with Mr. Hansell came when the latter was testing the chief of construction had told the committee that Jett had announced his resignation to Mayor Sims while the mayor was in the garage.

"That is not true," interrupted Jett, saying, "I never have resigned." Hansell, who was sitting next Jett, said, "There are some things that I'll not take from any man and one of them is being called a liar. I distinctly told you that the mayor said today that you had resigned and several others heard you make the same statement. If you say you didn't, you are lying."

Friends of both men interfered to prevent further exchange of words, and the hearing was resumed.

Jett, who had told the committee that he had not resigned, stated that he only wanted a "square deal." He again accused the mayor of "oustering" him, and declared that any charges that he or his men loafed on the job at any time "are untrue."

He stated that he discharged his men only because he understood that Mayor Sims had ordered dismissal of all employees of the garage and demanded that he had intentions of resigning at any time.

Wanted to Explain.

"Although the mayor cursed me out and cursed my men, I attempted to remain calm and to explain to him where I had been earlier in the morning and what the men were doing," Jett said. "The more I tried to explain, the more the mayor cursed, and finally he just walked away. He told the committee that I had resigned, and the committee discharged me without giving me a hearing."

City Controller B. C. Green West, the next witness, stated that Jett had called him Tuesday morning, and asked that men be sent to the garage to relieve the old force. He called and demanded his pay for the entire month, Mr. West said. The demand was refused, and the garage committee notified.

Mr. West was followed on the stand by H. B. Lass, a discharged mechanic at the garage. He contended that it was W. J. Smith, the only employee of the garage who was there when the mayor entered, both were at work. He also denied that he had quit until told by Jett that the rest of the force had been dismissed.

Smith, who Tuesday is said to have challenged the mayor to "step out of the car," also claimed that he and Lass were at work when the mayor and Mr. Hansell entered the garage.

He said that the unjust accusation that he was not working "made me see red and I hardly knew what I was saying when I talked to the mayor later. He said that he did not remember swearing at the mayor."

Mr. Hansell testified that when he and the mayor first entered the building, after going there to supervise installation of a rock crusher near the site, several men were standing near the door, smoking and talking. The mayor, he said, asked for Jett, and when told that the superintendent was out, started from the garage.

Meets Garage Head.

However, they met Jett as the latter entered the building. Mr. Hansell continued, and Mayor Sims asked the superintendent why the men were not working and ordered him to put them to work or remove them from the payroll. Jett assented and walked away.

Mr. Hansell declared.

"We passed the rear of the garage a short time later, the chief continued, 'and as we did so several men, headed by Mr. Jett and Mr. Smith, rushed out, apparently to mob us. After some argument, Mr. Jett said that he had quit and fired the rest of the force. Mayor Sims accepted the resignation and we drove off.'

"I was present at the garage later in the day when Mr. Jett repeated to several members of the garage committee that he had resigned and I certainly heard him make that statement several times."

Mr. Hansell praised the work of both Smith and Jett, stating that they are two of the most efficient and best men in the city's employ. He denied that the mayor had sworn at any of the men and said that Mayor Sims did not even appear angry.

Mayor Sims, who was the last witness, gave practically the same version of the entire affair as had been recited by Mr. Hansell.

NET IMMIGRATION CUT ALMOST HALF

Washington, February 11.—Analyzing figures obtained from the labor department covering the first six months' operation of the new immigration law, its author, Chairman Johnson, of the house immigration committee, estimated today that the total immigration for the current fiscal year would be about half of the net immigration for the preceding 12 months.

Mr. Johnson added that Mexican immigration has dropped 80 per cent, and Canadian more than 38 per cent, with Germany furnishing the greatest number of European immigrants and the Irish Free State second in this category.

Deportations have doubled, he said, and the exodus of aliens to Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Lithuania, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Yugoslavia, Armenia, China, India, Japan, Persia and Syria has been greater by 32,000 than the immigration from those countries.

Fewer than 100,000 persons were added to the population through immigration in the first six months of the new law's operation, of whom 38,474 came from Great Britain and Germany, it was shown. Figures so far show admission of quota immigrants numbering 66,749, or 40 per cent of the annual population, while western hemisphere immigrants numbered 1,951, sent 94,044, Mr. Johnson said, "pre-saging a total immigration of about 2,000,000 during the year."

"The figures," he asserted, "disprove the charge that the law is harsh in its operation."

Members of the committee also stated that Jett had told them of his resignation but had consented to stay on the job until 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to take an inventory and to wait until other arrangements had been made. He evidently changed his mind about resigning, they said, as he later refused to give up the keys to the garage, and did not do so until after a long argument with them.

Mr. Stevens will remain in charge of the garage until after council meets Monday. It is expected that the committee will ask that council elect him as superintendent, and if their action in discharging Jett is sustained by council, members will meet at the garage Tuesday to elect new members to fill the nine vacancies on the force.

FUND LACK HALTS NAVY YARD LABOR

Washington, February 11.—Owing to a shortage of funds, work at the navy yards on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts will be curtailed beginning March 1.

Monthly appropriations for all of the plants during the remainder of this fiscal year will be reduced, resulting, it was explained, in the possible laying off of men and a shortened week for others in the regular forces.

The principal yards to be affected are the Great Lakes, Puget Sound, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk plants. Inquiry at the navy department by senators brought the information that the navy department is due to high winds Wednesday night flames of two fires spread rapidly and caused a loss of approximately $25,000.

The first of the fire department was the Rex Furniture company, Johnson & Co. and L. Altman & Co. wholesale grocers, located respectively at 131, 133 and 135 Decatur street.

The fire is said to have started in the building of the furniture concern on the second floor, the flames spreading into the two adjoining buildings. Due to heroic work of firemen the flames were extinguished before much damage was done to the buildings. However, smoke and water damage is estimated at $15,000. The furniture store sustained the greatest damage.

The other fire was at the residence of E. M. Smiley, 289 Euclid avenue, and is said to have been caused by sparks from a defective chimney. Loss due to fire and water and smoke is estimated at $10,000.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamins that make flesh, creates a appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

The first of the fire department was the Rex Furniture company, Johnson & Co. and L. Altman & Co. wholesale grocers, located respectively at 131, 133 and 135 Decatur street.

The fire is said to have started in the building of the furniture concern on the second floor, the flames spreading into the two adjoining buildings. Due to heroic work of firemen the flames were extinguished before much damage was done to the buildings. However, smoke and water damage is estimated at $15,000. The furniture store sustained the greatest damage.

The other fire was at the residence of E. M. Smiley, 289 Euclid avenue, and is said to have been caused by sparks from a defective chimney. Loss due to fire and water and smoke is estimated at $10,000.

QUADRUPLTS BORN TO TENNESSEE PAIR

Knoxville, Tenn., February 11.—Quadruplets were born to Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Bradford at their mountain home near Middleboro near here today. There now are 12 children in the family.

It is 150 years since the first bottle glass factory in America was established at Glasboro, N. J.

She Says:

"I Am Thin"

Her Friend Says:

"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 15 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run down looks. She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamins that make flesh, creates a appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Compound. "T-Bals" which Jacobs' Pharmacy and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if your skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

Put it sure and get McCoys' the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet—(adv.)

tion that the monthly allotment for the Mare Island yard will be reduced to $95,000 and that for the Puget Sound plant to $85,000. The Atlantic coast plants, senators said they were informed, probably will be more seriously affected, since there is not as much necessity for work at those plants as at the Pacific coast yards.

Misses Era and Buena Hardy, two sisters who were ambitious to succeed in the business world and knew that a thorough and practical business education was absolutely necessary in order to attain success, came all the way from Little Rock, Arkansas, to Atlanta, and at once began a course of training in the Southern Shortland and Business University.

The proprietors of the Southern are always pleased to hear of the success of those whom they have trained along business lines, and, of course, they read with unusual interest the following letter recently received from Miss Era Hardy, in which she tells a most interesting story of her business training and the success she has achieved:

"Department of State, 'Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 3, 1925. 'Southern Shortland and Business University, Atlanta, Ga. 'Gentlemen:

"You no doubt remember the Hardy girls from Arkansas. We went to your school and then we came back to Little Rock, where sister Buena and I are now employed by the State at the Capitol Building. All of our family are here at Little Rock, and, of course, we are glad that we came back to Arkansas."

"The place I have been holding paid $150 a month until January 15th, when I received the appointment as Deputy Auditor of State at a salary of $200 per month. My work is interesting and I am pleased with my position."

"We are awfully glad that we did go to Atlanta for our Business Training, because we feel that what we got there is so much more than we could have received in any of the schools here."

"Wishing you and Mr. Arnold all the success you so richly deserve, I am, Your friend, 'ERA HARDY."

Miss Era Hardy, graduate of the Southern Shortland and Business University, promoted to a responsible position in Little Rock, Ark.

"Whole Town's Talking."

(At The Lyric.)

An ultra-modern girl's old standards of qualification for a husband are the cause of all the excitement in "The Whole Town's Talking," the sprightly farce comedy at the Lyric theater this week. It is an A. H. Woods production, some of the excellence in farce comedy as certain as "sterling" on silver. The Lyric players are giving it a production that unites the ultimate explosion of laughter and extracts the final essence of entertainment. Fred Raymond, in the role of a pretended Romeo, is a comedy triumph.

Braille and Pallo.

(At Loew's Grand.)

"So This Is Marriage," the picture at Loew's Grand theater this week, is a marvel of perfection as to photography. It contains the ultimate in back in Biblical days of King David, which are indeed beautiful. Eleanor Boardman, as the flapper wife; Conrad Nagel, as the serious husband; and Lew Cody, as the third party, lead the cast.

Braille and Pallo, the headline vaudeville attraction, offer something entirely new in the way of dances, pretti-

Also the bill includes the act of Charles and Addie Wilkins, Joe and Sherman Trennell, with Virginia Crisp and Laurie Ordway, and more.

Regionnaires Pledge Aid In Campaign For $5,000,000

Russell G. Creviston, national adjutant of the American Legion, appealed to members of Argonne post No. 1 at a dinner Wednesday night in his honor in behalf of a drive being launched by national headquarters with a $5,000,000 goal. The meeting was in the gray room of the Piedmont hotel.

The fund will be used for charitable work among orphans of deceased veterans and to aid children of disabled veterans who, because of a father's affliction, are deprived of the necessities of life, the national adjutant explained.

Ben Alexander, who has the child's role in J. K. McDonald's First National picture, "Frisolous Sal," is another of the stars in the new production. ## Wilmington Woman Declared

MOTHER OF MOVIE STARS LITTLE KNOWN

Mother of Mrs. Jack Dempsey

BY H. O. THOMPSON.

Hollywood, Cal., February 11.—Movie stars have their mothers just like everyone else, but it's seldom one hears about them.

One of the stars in Minneapolis and the other in Wilmington, Del., had a long-distance argument Wednesday over which one was Estelle Taylor's mother. It seems the one in Minneapolis had a daughter who went out to seek fame under that name, and when Estelle married Jack Dempsey, it was natural for her to wonder why she hadn't been invited to the wedding.

Mrs. Harry J. Boylan, of Wilmington, Del., finally got the right to call Jack "Sonny," and although the argument was over, she was still smiling at the thought of the direction of other movie mothers.

Mary Miles Minter brought court action against her mother in an effort to collect money she says Mrs. Shelby kept from her earnings. That's not the usual situation, Mary Brian's mother listened to her daughter's movie yearnings, and gave in to them.

"We will stay in Hollywood six months, and if you don't get a job during that time we'll move back to Oklahoma," she told her.

Two days before the time was up, Mary was signed for the role of "Betty" in "The Sign of the Cross."

Mrs. Mary Compton, mother of Betty, saved and skimped until she had car fare for two from Reno to Hollywood, and then she bought a ticket for Betty to come home.

Mrs. Jack Dempsey, who lives in Virginia, but once each year she comes to Hollywood to see her daughter.

Georgia's Cotton Fields May Become Big Dusting Center To Combat Weevil

Eighteen Planes Will Be Stationed in Various Parts of State by Commercial Organization.

That Georgia is about to become the center of one of the largest commercial aviation enterprises in America is the outstanding fact in the announcement here Wednesday by George B. Post, director and general manager of Huff Daland Dusters, Inc. His company has now virtually concluded plans for large-scale dusting of crops by airplane during the coming season.

Eighteen planes, especially built for this purpose, according to Mr. Post, will arrive in Georgia before the opening of the cotton dusting season and will be located by twos at nine different localities throughout the coastal plain cotton belt. They will apply calcium arsenate to crops on contract with the farmers, he said. These operations, Mr. Post states, are the outcome of three years of pioneer airplane dusting work carried on under the direction of Dr. B. R. Coad, of the United States department of agriculture, in charge of the Delta Laboratories, at Tallulah, La. The Huff Daland company has been collaborating with Dr. Coad in this work for over a year, developing in his specifications the two types of airplanes built especially for crop dusting, he said. Mr. Post was in charge of the planes which gave the demonstration in 1924 at Athens, Cordele and other localities in Georgia under auspices of the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Plan On Big Scale.
"Our commercial operations this year will consist largely of the protection of cotton fields against weevil and army worm infestation, although the method will be employed on a smaller scale for other crops," stated Mr. Post. "At the present moment representatives of the company are investigating 18 or 20 tentative bases throughout the coastal plain for the cotton dusting. This number will soon be reduced to nine, the selections being made on a basis of the amount of cotton in the locality and the interest in the new method shown by the planters. In each locality we will protect approximately 6,000 acres of cotton in a circle of about 20 miles diameter.

"We are to be bonded by a surety company for faithful performance. The contract will embody at least three applications of calcium arsenate, but preferably five, which is the number recommended by all recognized authorities.

Charges To Be Fixed.
The charge to the farmer has not been finally fixed yet, but at most it will be $7 per acre for five dustings, he said. This includes the cost of the airplane and the expert entomological service. In case a farmer has calcium arsenate of his own, adjustment will be made to take care of the difference between the dust measures up to the chemical requirements set by the state board of entomology.

"I am anxious to make clear the fact that my company is financed by a group of friends and associates and is not dominated by any big interests. mony had been misinterpreted; that he had meant no criticism of Lieutenant Burdon or Gerald, and that his only criticism of William B. Miller, Louisville newspaperman, was that his paper had given him so much publicity it had gone to his head.

During the morning session several witnesses were heard, including Lee Collins, father of the entomologist, preceding Mr. Collins on the witness stand, the Rev. Columbus Doyle, brother of Bee Doyle, owner of the farm on which the entrance of Sand Cave is located, gave testimony.

Many Evidences of Drinking.
"I was out at the cave the Sunday night after Collins was caught," said the minister. "I saw evidences of drinking. The work proceeded in a disorganized manner. There were bickering and quarreling over the whereabouts of the lost cave. The photograph of Jesse James did, however, tally strikingly with Hunt.

make 4,000 gallons. He also stated that labels were confiscated, stamped "Gordon dry gin," and other well-known brands of liquor. It is said Griffith was placed in Fulton tower awaiting the arrival of wardens from the state farm.

Howard's Statement.
Attorney William Schley Howard, in a statement Wednesday which was retained by Griffith on Tuesday of last week and accepted by the Fulton superior court, stated that he was retained by Griffith in the Sartin-Fletcher bribery case would be called but continued in the federal courts, and that he would be able to appear as counsel for Griffith in the Fulton superior court.

"Since I have been employed by Griffith, charged with violation of the prohibition laws, I have had several conferences with him and his associates, and fully expected to be ready when his trial was called, he declared.

"I am an admirer of the ability of Judge Humphries, of the Fulton superior court, and firmly believe that had he known the entire situation, statements made in the court Wednesday would not have been uttered. I am making this statement in justice to Griffith and do not reflect on the ability of the court or the quick action of Judge Humphries," he added.

SALE OF PAROLES CHARGED IN PROBE

while there was information over long distance telephone that his parole had been granted.

The resolution recommended the parole on the ground that it appeared from having been convicted in the "rum ring" expose, that Baughn was of good character and never been convicted before and because of the fact that he testified before the grand jury during his investigations of conditions in the prison.

Willie Haer, who was on the stand Tuesday, testified again Wednesday. He said that a week after he entered the prison he was called to Mr. Sartin's office. He said the warden told him, "Rhie told me about his Savannah trip and gave me the package you sent me. On the stand Tuesday Haer had testified that following an agreement he paid Rhie $10,500 with the understanding that it was to go to the "proper authorities."

$5,000 Check Cashed.
Haer, during his testimony Wednesday, said that Fletcher asked him to cash a $5,000 check and he suggested that Graham Baughn get it cashed. He said Fletcher told him the check represented money that Mannie Kessler, rich New York bootlegger, had "loaned" to him and Sartin. He said that several days later Fletcher told him that Baughn had gotten the check cashed.

Attorney William Schley Howard, for the defense, sought to draw from Haer an admission that the check represented money which he (Haer) and Baughn had won from Mannie Kessler in a $25-limit poker game in the warden's quarters. Haer emphatically answered "No."

Attorney Howard then asked several questions pertaining to alleged warnings by persons who had entered the prison during the police raid. The prosecution objected and the court sustained it. The witness admitted that Savannah physicians had examined him during the police raid, prior to beginning his term at the prison and certificates as to the elder Haer's health had been sent to prison officials.

Chaplain Involved.
Baughn, in his testimony, said that he came to Atlanta with a letter of recommendation to Father Hayden, then chaplain at the prison. "I had been sentenced to and fined $1,500 for violation of the prohibition law," he said. "I paid the fine but dreaded the prison sentence. I wanted to meet Father Hayden and talk over the situation with him. My purpose was honest and I had no idea of any other kind of transaction. To my great surprise, when Father Hayden came to my room in the hotel, I was informed that Willie Haer had started some negotiations. The first thing Father Hayden told me was not to have any dealings with an outsider. He said that he was the only one to act officially in this matter and any other person was acting without official orders.

It then was explained to me that for $1,500 each we could be taken care of at the prison. I told Father Hayden that I knew nothing about this and had no authority to do it, but that I could call Haer at once and arrange a conference. This was satisfactory, Father Hayden said, and the conference was called and the terms arranged. The witness corroborated the testimony of Father Hayden relative to the arrangement for paying $1,500 each for special privileges.

On cross-examination, Baughn identified an affidavit signed December 10, 1924, in which he denied that he had ever attempted or succeeded in bribing Sartin, Fletcher or any other prison officials. He declared, however, that although the document was witnessed by a notary public he had not sworn the contents were true. In reply to questions Baughn admitted he had participated in gambling at the prison but denied that he had been in possession of large sums of money while there.

FARM PRODUCTS BETTER BALANCED

Washington, February 11.—With the senate and house agriculture committees once more occupied with the problem of drafting farm relief legislation for enactment by the present congress, the federal "reserve board" reported today that agriculture had climbed to a better balance with other industries than at any time since 1920.

The agricultural industry gives no indication, the board's monthly reports said, of receding from its present economic position, which has been reached by a gradual advance beginning in the late summer of last year. A similar outlook was presented to the senate committee today by William M. Jardine, a member of the president's agricultural conference, who expressed "unmistakable optimism" for the outcome of the farming industry, and declared the farmer was passing through a most severe crisis from which his recovery was now certain.

Before the house committee, Chairman Carey, of the committee, introduced a bill framed as Chairman Haugen to carry out the conference recommendations on cooperative marketing and predicted the final operative marketing board proposed in the bill would prove of substantial aid to the farmer in marketing his crops provided the "proper type of

ORLEANIANS BID FOR LARGE BLOCK COTTON OIL STOCK

New York, February 11.—An order to show cause on February 24, why $10,000,000 worth of stock of the Southern Cotton Oil company, subsidiary of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, should not be sold for $8,750,000 has been issued to the stockholders of the company by Federal Judge Runyon.

The order was issued following the application for it by counsel for Charles G. Wilson and A. V. Vanderbilt, federal equity receivers of both concerns. They reported to the court that the offer to buy had been made by A. D. Georgehan and Rudolph S. Hecht, of New Orleans.

The Haugen measure would amend the Copper-Volstead act to permit cooperative associations to organize and operate both terminal marketing and clearing house organizations without conflict with the anti-trust laws so long as the membership was made up exclusively of producers.

At the senate meeting, Mr. Jardine took up a analysis of the conference recommendations, emphasizing especially those dealing with "orderly marketing."

Chairman Norris, insisting that an "emergency program" was needed, declared the conference brought a program "to congress in the last days of the session and he white house announces there is ample time for us to act," and asked if "that was just an effort to pass the buck."

"There certainly was no intention to embarrass congress," Mr. Jardine replied.

When you open the can, you see where Snowdrift got its name. Its whiteness does not make it pure, but its purity is one reason why Snowdrift is so white. Snowdrift is made by the Wesson Oil people out of oil as good as a fine salad oil. It is hardened and whipped, much as you beat the white of an egg, into a creamy white fat—the nicest fat you ever used for making cake, biscuit, pastry, or for wholesome frying.

Many Ills Have Fled

"I CAN sleep good at night now—something I have never done before in my life—and it is due to Cardui," declares Mrs. Deala B. Hawks, a Bristol, Va., lady whose picture is printed above. "I was always nervous and tossed when I should have been asleep," says Mrs. Hawks, "but since I took Cardui it has strengthened me, and my general health is so much improved that many of the ills from which I suffered for years have fled."

"I had been going through the change of life and it seemed to me that everything got wrong. I suffered from shortness of breath and I could not go up the steps without stopping to rest several times. When I would try to hoe in my garden I would soon give out. I could scarcely hoe two rows before my breath was coming in gasps. My sister-in-law had taken Cardui and she thought it might do me good, so she told me to try it. I got a bottle (of Cardui) and began to take it by the directions and I began to improve after a few doses. My general condition was so much better after the first bottle that I got another, and another, until I had taken six. Now I am a well woman."

"Cardui is a great medicine. Since I took it I feel like a new woman. I had had female trouble for years. Once for six months I was flat on my back. I am glad to recommend to other women a medicine which has helped me."

Cardui is sold by all reliable druggists.

A plateau of daffodils, pink rosebuds, white hyacinths and narcissi graced the center of the table, the lovely centerpiece surrounded by tall yellow tapers burning in silver candlesticks which were placed at intervals.

Mrs. Conklin received her guests wearing a handsome gown of lustrous black satin trimmed in red.

Mrs. D. B. Latham, of Washington, D. C., sister of the hostess, was an admired guest, who was beautifully gowned in black satin, fur-trimmed with touches of red.

The Oglethorpe orchestra, under the direction of John T. Lee, rendered a program of requested selections during the reception hours.

Service Star Legion Holds Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Service Star Legion was held on Tuesday at Phillips & Crew's, with an unusually large and enthusiastic attendance. Mrs. Sam D. Jones, president, opened the meeting with prayer and a touching tribute in memory of Mrs. Edward Durant and Mrs. Franklin Mikell, two beloved members who have passed away during the past year.

Reports were made by Mrs. W. D. White, Mrs. E. B. Williams, Mrs. Stanley Moore and Mrs. Mellichamp; all reports showing increasing interest and progress in the work of the organization.

Reports from work among the blind veterans are to the effect that the general public is gradually becoming awakened to the importance of this wonderful work and much interest is being taken in material ways.

Mrs. Luther P. Rosser and Mrs. Irving Thomas were appointed by Mrs. Jones as general chairmen of the national convention to meet here May 18-23. Chairmen and co-chairmen of 30 committees were also appointed and with their entire committees will be published later on.

A beautiful feature of the convention will be the special honors conferred upon the gold star mothers. Mrs. Marcus Beck, Mrs. Stanley Moore and Mrs. E. L. Connally are in charge of this committee—as they also are mothers whose boys made the supreme sacrifice.

Many invitations of hospitality are extended the Service Star Legion for their distinguished guests in May from the different organizations of the city, including the Woman's club, Uncle Remus association and the patriotic associations, as well as from many other sources.

The next meeting will take place at Phillips & Crew's on March 10 at 3 o'clock.

West End Club To Give Bridge Party Friday.

Mrs. Charles Schoen, hospitality chairman of the West End Woman's club, will sponsor a bridge party on Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the club rooms, 305 Gordon street. Many prizes have been donated. These include baskets from produce row, home-made cakes, handiwork, cigars and novelties for men and women. The Valentine idea will be worked out in colors and in refreshments.

The proceeds will go to the building fund of the club. Fifty cents per person will be charged. Those wishing reservations will call Mrs. Schoen at West 2224, or Mrs. J. Killian at West 1880, or Mrs. Oscar Hardin at West 0442-W.

Women Life Insurers To Meet.

The Georgia Association of Women Life Insurers, Mrs. B. M. Boykin, president, will have their monthly meeting at the Robert Fulton at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today. Hayes, of Montezuma; Mrs. N. E. Powell, of Newnan; Mrs. J. G. Gunter and Mrs. Nell B. Freeman, of Griffin, Ga.

Legion Auxiliary To Have Drive.

One of the most important phases of the February meeting of the American Legion auxiliary to be held on Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce building will be the discussion of plans for a membership drive to be conducted by the legion.

A plan has been devised by which the duties of each member will be comparatively simple, but the results are expected to be far-reaching. There are several other very interesting matters to come before the meeting and a full attendance is especially urged.

Pretty Follies Members Have Little Time For Rest

There are fifty or sixty of the best looking, cleverest and most attractive young women in Atlanta who, for the balance of this week, will have nothing to do but work about 14 hours out of each 24, snatch their meals and make the trip between their homes and the Atlanta theater during another two or three hours, and sleep—if they wish—the balance of the day. These young women are members of the cast in the Junior League Follies show which is fast becoming as regular a yearly institution in Atlanta as Christmas day, tax payments, grand opera and the Labor Day parade.

It is certain, however, that this year the Follies will give something far better than anything in the past—which is quite an undertaking. But they have Ned Weyburn, famous director of Ziegfeld Follies and other prominent Broadway revues, to direct the show.

Daily Drills Begin.

Mr. Weyburn, who came here to pick the cast and launch the rehearsals, is now back in Atlanta and, beginning this morning, he is going to drill his company as relentlessly and with as little regard for their personal comfort and convenience as he drills professional choruses he puts on Broadway.

And, with Mr. Weyburn himself for authority, it is certain that the Junior League has promised—and their promise is the same as each in the bank—super-entertainment.

past they have been hard at work learning new dances, songs and the mysteries of stage routine, and it begins to look like a wonderful show may be expected.

Thursday morning is to be marked by another important event—the box office sale will commence. It is expected that there will be a line of prospective ticket purchasers several blocks long before the box office opens at 10 o'clock. And it will be a wise theater goer who gets there early. For those who don't are apt to find themselves disappointed if they seek seats for Monday night and, for any night during the week, the choice seats will probably go as fast as the ticket sellers can hand them out and take in the money.

Proceeds For Charity.

The money—always an important part of any theatrical production, will go to support the various charities which are sponsored by the league.

Space forbids detailed particulars here, but anyone who knows Junior league girls knows they are worthy and essential.

So, get your tickets early. Expect to see a show that will compare favorably with the best that the biggest theaters in New York can give. Anticipate a royal good time. Choose your night for attendance—the show will run all next week with a matinee on Saturday.

And, whatever you expect, you won't be disappointed. For the Junior League has promised—and their promise is the same as each in the bank—super-entertainment.

FRANCE WILL STUDY INTERALLIED DEBTS

Paris, February 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—The finance committee of the chamber of deputies, in agreement with Premier Herriot, today appointed a subcommittee, charged with the duty of studying the question of the interallied debts.

The subcommittee, whose duties are officially described as "the study of the financial clauses of the treaty of peace," consists of 15 members, three of whom belong to the opposition. It will meet this coming Friday.

Mrs. V. A. Hunt Dies, Funeral at Hiram; Pioneer Georgian

Hiram, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—Funeral services for Mrs. V. A. Hunt, 75, widow of the late Joseph E. Hunt, pioneer Georgian and beloved resident of Paulding county, who died Tuesday night at her home near here, will be held from the home at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Interment will be at Flint Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Hunt was born in Lincoln county, and shortly before the Confederate war, her parents moved to Paulding county. She had lived here practically all her life. She was prominently identified with civic and social affairs of this section of the state, and was a devoted member of the Poplar Springs Baptist church.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. J. E. Bodenhamer and Mrs. T. H. Kendall, both of Decatur, Ga., and Miss Claude and Miss Blanche Hunt, of Hiram, Ga., and ten grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

My Matrimonial Vacation

by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED. NANCY LARABEE stays in New York with her mother. VIRGINIA, when her husband, JIM LARABEE, an army officer, goes to the Philippines, Virginia is a social climber, and uses Nancy to gain her ends.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT. IV—HIGH STAKES. Virginia had tried her best to impress me with the necessity of being nice to our landlord, Frank Harrison.

"He's giving us this apartment at a very low rate," she told me. "Otherwise we never could afford to live in such a smart neighborhood. And he's doing a great deal of redecorating for us that wasn't called for at all. So be nice to him."

I hate this "being nice to" anybody with a lively sense of favors to come, but of course it was all in the day's work to be pleasant to Mr. Harrison. So we drove along to the smart supper club that he had selected I did what I could. That is, I played chorus while he talked.

We had plenty of opportunity, as traffic near the opera house was terrific, and the club we were going to was in the Fifties, blocks away.

He was quite impressed with his own importance, which wouldn't be minded so much if he hadn't insisted on talking about it.

But it was even worse when he tried to come down to earth and be considered my level, and tried to be lovable and full of fun and slangy.

"Guess we'll show 'em all right, won't we?" he remarked, as we reached the club, and he helped me out of the car. "I'm crazy about dancing—hot dog."

I sighed and wished I were home in bed. Just the first of my impossible wishes for the evening! The club was in a big old house, the front of which had been left just as it was. Usually they do those places over with Italian-looking awnings or Russian insignia on the front, which belong to the houses about as much as spaghetti on Irish stew.

A colored butler ushered us in, and when we had left our wraps we went to the ballroom, a charming place with beautiful crystal chandeliers. The atmosphere was perfect, really that of a party in a private house. The small tables were in what had been the drawing-room and library.

The club was very exclusive, Frank Harrison assured me—one had to be passed by the directors to get in.

I simply adored it. I began to be happier. After all, I knew that I looked nice, in my new frock of pink and silver, and the orchids Frank Harrison had sent me were gorgeous, and life might be worth living even if my husband had chosen to desert me!

I smiled at Harrison, not because I cared anything about him but just because I felt happy. But of course he took it to himself—men always do!

"How about champagne?" he asked, as the waiter moved beside our table. I wondered if I'd ever know him well enough to tell him to go ahead and order expensive things without making such a point of it.

I agreed, and suggested some other things, not that I was hungry, but I knew that he'd probably pick just the wrong ones, and the waiter was looking at us so suspiciously that I felt I couldn't stand that.

"And now let's dance," urged Harrison.

making a little wager with myself. "I'd like to know him—and he looks as if he'd like to know me." And then a man who had been acting as master of ceremonies stepped into the middle of the floor.

"By special request, we're going to have Paul Jones," he announced. "Everybody dance!"

They wouldn't have dared do it in a less exclusive club, of course. But here it was quite all right. I jumped to my feet, ignoring Harrison's protest that of course we wouldn't join in a dance with a queer little fellow that Fate was playing into my hands, and resuming my evening from utter boredom.

Tomorrow—My Nice Young Man. And I saw that I was in for it. He did everything but count. So I showed him a step or two that meant that we all but stood still in a less exclusive club, of course.

BEAUTY CHATS

BY EDNA K. FORBES.

THE DENTIST SAYS—My dentist is up to a number of clever tricks. Some of them are new to me, some of them are new to dentists, too. I think for I talked with one of them casually about a treatment for pyorrhea, and they were enthusiastic and said they had never tried this special method.

Pyorrhea is about the most dreaded of mouth diseases. Eventually, the teeth drop out, but usually they have to be pulled, which isn't so easy as having them drop. And very often, abscesses and such things form and the poison, going through the system, causes an amazing variety of diseases, anything from deafness or boils to rheumatism or tuberculosis.

Pyorrhea is about the most dreaded of mouth diseases. Eventually, the teeth drop out, but usually they have to be pulled, which isn't so easy as having them drop. And very often, abscesses and such things form and the poison, going through the system, causes an amazing variety of diseases, anything from deafness or boils to rheumatism or tuberculosis.

Tartar allowed to accumulate and harden on the teeth, which is what brings on pyorrhea, gradually eats off and may decay the necks of the teeth. This is particularly so around the last molars and the wisdom teeth where it's hard to brush. Now, to stop that decay for a few months, my dentist first cleans off all hardened tartar—which he does anyway once every six months—then he paints that very bad part with nitrate of silver. This treatment carterizes the necks of the teeth and the gums, it doesn't hurt, though for a day there is a decided metallic taste in that part of the mouth. In my own particular case, he completely stopped what threatened to be bad pyorrhea (due to a careless dentist whom I went to as a child) by this treatment, and by cleaning off of tartar twice a year.

My dentist also says that cleaning the teeth crosswise is harmful, as everyone knows, and that cleaning up and down is not sufficient. You must have a very short brush with a blob at the end, and begin at the gums and brush to the surface of the teeth. It takes longer, but this sweep of the bristles from gums to top of the teeth, takes off soft tartar better than any other way; this, too, prevents decay.

Dancer—You cannot stop the tendency to perspiration as it is a natural and normal condition. Before going to dance, use a powder that is slightly astringent; if this does not control the condition over the entire evening, you can help it by using a little cold water followed by more powder.

You can have an astringent added to your bath powder at any drug store, but do not use it except when absolutely needed, as it will make the skin very dry if used in excess.

Tomorrow: Sea Salt Baths.

NEARLY INSANE AT TIMES

Mrs. Saunders Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Troubles of Change of Life

Knoxville, Tenn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while going through the Change of Life. I was very nervous, could not sleep and had melancholy spells. In fact, I was nearly insane at times and my memory was almost a blank. I was so weak I could not do my housework half of the time and suffered dreadfully with my back. My doctor said I would never get better and I went through this for three years before I began taking the Vegetable Compound which I saw advertised. I think it was eight bottles that I took. It has been two years since I took any and I haven't had a doctor since for that trouble. I do all my washing and ironing and I have gained from 116 to 138 pounds. I advise all women who suffer physically and mentally as I did to give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. I hope it will do as much for them as it did for me."—Mrs. T. A. SAUNDERS, 711 E. Depot Street, Knoxville, Tennessee.

New York, February 11.—An early advance in the cotton market today was followed by reactions, May selling off from 24.50 to 24.40, compared with 24.40 at the close of yesterday. That delivery closed at 24.68, the general market closing steady at an advance of 6 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 8 to 15 points. Active months sold 18 to 22 points net higher in early trading on relatively light Liverpool sales, 25,000 bales, night spot and weather in Texas and bullish private figures on domestic mill consumption for January. Trade interest was among the buyers on the advance, which carried July up to 25.00 and October to 24.92, respectively. Active month price for the season on the early new crop delivery.

Realizing was in sufficient volume to supply the moderate demand, and at these figures, however, the market eased off in the afternoon under continued profit-taking and western selling, which was connected with the weakness in wheat. July broke to 24.88 and October to 24.77, or within 7 to 7 points of yesterday's closing figures, last prices showing rallies of a few points from the lowest on continued trade buying and covering.

It was reported that private returns pointed to domestic mill consumption of 555,000 to 600,000 bales for January, compared with 532,000 for the previous month, and 578,000 for January last year.

Private cables attributed the firmness of Liverpool to trade selling and a good spot demand with a sharp advance in Egyptian cotton, the latter, as shown by later advices, amounting to about 28,500 bales. Reports reaching here from the south claimed that stocks of cotton remaining unsold at many interior points were comparatively small, and that spots were firmly held. Trade interests were buyers of March here, but so far sales of later months.

Exports today, 28,500 bales, 722,291 so far this season. Port receipts, 23,700 bales.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS.

The market for dress goods was active, the buying being done in make up the large normal orders were the openings closed.

Coffee.
New York, February 11.—Coffee futures opened today at a decline of 10 to 15 points under local and European selling, which appeared to be promoted by reports of lower prices in the market. The market was active, however, and after selling off to 18.50 for May, the price advanced to 19.00 on cover. The general market closing net 5 points higher to 8 points lower. # Great Britain V. Sumner Debt Conference of Her Own Within Next Three Months

Baldwin Wants France, Italy and Other Creditors To Pay About $120,000,000 Annually.

BY CHARLES M. MCANN.
London, February 11.—Premier Stanley Baldwin expects an inter-allied debt conference to convene at London within three months. Around the table will sit representatives of France, Italy, Japan, Greece, Rumania, Greece and Portugal, with a British representative in the chair. The total indebtedness of these six nations to Great Britain is $1,370,000,000.

The British hopes for a debt conference were made known from an unquestioned source. These hopes largely determined the phraseology of Winston Churchill's letter to France, in which all the debtors were diplomatically invited to pay.

Great Britain's liability to the United States is, roughly, $240,000,000. The British share of the Dawes receipts will amount to about $120,000,000 if the rate of exchange is 1.9 per cent; $135 per cent, if the rate is 1.8 per cent, and $150 per cent, if the rate is 1.7 per cent.

The principal negotiators with Britain at the proposed conference would be France and Italy. These two nations absorbed almost all of the vast war-time credits extended from London. The principal point in their negotiations would be the proportion of each country's payments in the two categories outlined in Churchill's letter.

Britain would endeavor to tie her debtors to a promise to pay as much as possible from their respective treasuries. The remainder, Britain would be content to receive in the guise of an allotment of part of the Dawes receipts from each of the countries.

Stakes Hopes on Conference.

The debtors would object, and demand that the sums be reversed. That is, as much as possible be paid from the Dawes receipts and a minimum annual payment required from the various national treasuries.

Whichever way the conference went to find a compromise, Britain would have staked all her hopes of debt funding on the satisfactory operation of the Dawes plan. It is a known fact in big figures, probably made possible by the British conviction that if the Dawes plan failed, the allies wouldn't pay anything in any event.

FEDERAL PLANS CHILD LABOR DRIVE

Miami, Fla., February 11.—Efforts to elect legislators who favor ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution were made in a campaign of indefinite length by the American Federation of Labor, it was decided today by the federation's executive council in session here.

The council also went on record as opposing a proposed law to create a federal department of education and relief, with jurisdiction over child labor and other matters, but as favoring a federal department devoted solely to education with its secretary a cabinet officer.

The executive council, Secretary Frank Morrison said, "instructed officers of the federation to continue their efforts to secure ratification of the child labor amendment. That means that a campaign will be inaugurated in the states that have refused to ratify the amendment, and that the federation will endeavor to elect legislators that will be favorable to ratification."

"There is no time limit to ratification," the federation said. "It is a definite goal to be achieved, and states have been secured to ratify the amendment."

These decisions were made at the morning meeting and the council was in session for three hours this afternoon, but its members stated tonight that they had nothing to do but wait for the next meeting, which would be taken after a session tomorrow morning. The next meeting will be opened May 5 in Washington.

MEASURE RATIFIED IN WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., February 11.—The Wisconsin legislature ratified the child labor amendment to the federal constitution when the house voted 65 to 26 in favor of the proposal. The state senate already had ratified.

CONNECTICUT HOUSE REFUSES TO RATIFY

Hartford, Conn., February 11.—By an overwhelming vote the house of representatives today refused to ratify the child labor amendment to the federal constitution. Ratification was defeated in the senate last week.

Youthful Bandits Burglarize Store As Owner Watches

Two shabbily dressed white youths, masquerading as prospective buyers, proved to be "takers" Wednesday night in the establishment of Cohen's Drug company, 127 Forrest avenue, obtaining $10 in cash—and a well-executed robbery.

When the youths entered the store a number of customers were busy purchasing various sundries and articles, and the two lingered around until all but one customer and the proprietor, J. H. Cohen, had left. At the first chance the bandits ordered the two men to hold up their hands and retire to the rear of the establishment, which they did without hesitancy.

After rummaging the cash register, appearing to be very nervous, the youths fled from the building and into the darkness.

Officers, after getting descriptions of the two bandits, began their search and rode into a filling station at the corner of Forrest and Reed avenues. They inquired of the operator of the station if he had seen anyone answering the description of the two men. W. B. Clay, proprietor of the station, stated that he had seen one young man at the station about an hour before and the man asked him for $5, stating that he was hungry and that if he didn't do it he would make him. Clay, who was not immediately given the stranger the money to avoid any trouble.

Raid By Klan Unauthorized, Officials Say

300 LOGAN CASES

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 11.—Assumption of control of the city government of St. Petersburg by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was done without permission of Mayor P. S. Pearce and the city commissioners, the official declared Wednesday night.

Members of the commission backed up the mayor and vigorously assailed the hooded raiders for taking over control of the police department Tuesday.

In answer to the mayor and commissioners, Chief of Detective John Trotter declared that under the city charter the police department had the right to suppress any service additional officers and patrolmen.

Definite action on the situation will be taken at the next regular meeting, Monday night, of the city commissioners. It will then be decided whether the Klan is to continue to exercise control over the police department.

"There is no need for the people to become alarmed," Trotter declared. "The Klan will work under my orders and will only make a few arrests when they see that crime is being committed. My plan is to organize them into groups of ten men each and patrol all sections of the city."

The Klan took control of St. Petersburg Tuesday after a raid Saturday night had convinced it that the city was in a state of anarchy.

"Flagrant law violations were found on all sides," officials declared after 150 white-robed and masked Klansmen, many of them wearing regalia, invaded many houses were forced to flee in their night-shirts and liquor found in the houses was poured out.

Oliver Charged With Depositing Draft To Wife

Knoxville, Tenn., February 11.—Fraudulent transfer to his wife of a treasury draft for $125,000, part of $170,000 damages recently awarded him by the government, is charged against W. J. Oliver in a bill filed in chancery court today by the Southern Surety company.

The draft, according to the allegations set forth in the bill, was made payable to Colonel Oliver's wife to hinder his creditors and to defeat the claimants in collection of a past due note for $10,000, for the recovery of which another bill was filed some time ago.

The bill filed today states that Mrs. Oliver deposited the $125,000 draft in the Third National Bank of Knoxville. The Southern Surety company is seeking attachment of the $125,000 and that the draft for that amount be declared the property of W. J. Oliver.

Harvey On Stand Denies Charges In Fairburn Case

Decatur, Ga., February 11.—(Special)—Testimony of C. R. Harvey, former president of the Central Bank of Campbell County, of Fairburn, who is being tried in the DeKalb county chancery court on charges of larceny after trust in connection with the failure of the bank, marked the trial here today.

Harvey denied all charges against him, and declared that he was innocent of any intentional violation of any state banking laws, declaring that his signature on certain notes to firms in which he was interested were put there by mistake.

The defendant told of his activities in the institution since he organized it in 1911. He stated that in 1919 the undivided deposits of the bank totaled more than $800,000, but in 1920 dropped to less than $85,000. Harvey was president of the bank for seven years.

Witnesses declared that Harvey had $8 cents on deposit when the bank failed. Judge J. V. Wilson asked F. H. Brinkley, Auditor General, Rev. M. D. Collins, R. C. Williams, of the War Finance corporation; J. J. Rutledge and F. G. Jeter were present as witnesses who took the stand today.

Court attaches tonight said that the trial probably would go into Friday night, and that it would take more time than it was thought would be necessary to complete their case. The prosecution rested this afternoon.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA HOMELESS SUGGESTED

Washington, February 11.—Generally jealous of any attempted usurpation of its constitutional powers, congress is getting tired of sitting as a rubber stamp for the city of Washington and the secretary of the district of Columbia has suggested giving the people of the District of Columbia some power to govern themselves.

Representative Gibson, of Vermont, and Barton, of Ohio, are now preparing a resolution which may result in the residents of the district obtaining some measure of home rule. The resolution would call for a special committee from congress to investigate during the summer months the government of the district and to combine the findings in a recommendation to the next congress so that the national body might be relieved of petty municipal questions.

"The city is growing so fast that it is taking up a lot of time that should be devoted to national affairs," City officials now can't even close a street or an alley without putting a bill through congress, they can't put on a new clerk unless the house and senate pass upon the matter.

DOG TEAMS RUSHING ANTITOXIN TO NOME

Anchorage, Alaska, February 11.—According to word received here today, 450,000 units of diphtheria antitoxin being relayed from Nome, Alaska, by dog teams arrived in Nulato, 80 miles west of Ruby, on the Yukon river, at 8:45 o'clock last night.

Fifteen minutes later the serum had been transferred to another team and was on its way to Kaltag, 30 miles southwest of Nulato. Secretary Clark carried the serum into Nulato, it was said.

A heavy snowstorm was hindering the mushers, it was reported.

CONFESSED MATRICIDE PLEADS NOT GUILTY

San Francisco, February 11.—Dorothy Ellington, 16, confessed slayer of her mother, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in superior court today on charge of murder. Her trial was set for March 23.

The first issue of postage stamps in the United States was in 1840, the year of the great rush to the California gold fields.

Four High Police Officials Involved In Probe of Death Or Suicide of Royalist Heir

Exposure of Plots and Counterfeits at Paris Investigation May Cause Scandal Shaking France.

BY JOHN O'BRIEN.

Paris, February 11.—A blast of scandal involving four principal officers of the Paris police, including former Premier Raymond Poincaré's brother-in-law, is gathering in the chambers of the examining magistrate, who has just begun consideration of charges that these four kidnapped and murdered 14-year-old Philippe Daudet.

Leon Daudet, Philippe's father and leader of the French royalist party, brought the charges, alleging that relations exist between the French secret service and anarchists. The promised exposure of plots and counter plots may rival the sensations of the Dreyfus case.

Officials Who Are Implicated.

The officials implicated by Daudet are:

Auguste Lannan, controller-general of the secret service and brother-in-law of Poincaré.

Louis Delange, controller-general of the judicial branch of the secret service.

Louis Marlier, former controller-general; now prefect of the Island of Corsica.

Joseph Colombo, secret service inspector.

Bookseller Also Accused.

Daudet also accuses the anarchist, bookseller, Pierre La Floutier, in whose bookstore Philippe last was seen alive. Floutier was in the pay of the police as a stool pigeon. It may have been through him that young Daudet met Germaine Berton, the "red virgin," who attempted to assassinate the elder Daudet and killed one of the editors of his royalist newspaper by mistake.

Germaine was said to have attempted to kill herself because of her grief at young Philippe's death. The pretty anarchist proudly claimed the youth as her lover and insisted that he accepted her as his mistress and finally as his political teacher. It was after he had promised to murder his own father that the boy was found fatally wounded in a taxicab.

Believes Son Was Murdered.

The police called it a suicide. Leon Daudet believes the police themselves murdered his son, ignorant of his identity, and then tried suicide when his identification brought a stormy investigation.

It is known that Philippe had been consorting with anarchists, telling them of his plans to assassinate his father and perhaps Poincaré.

Whether it was their disregard of government or of the usual moral customs that attracted Daudet to the red fold has never been determined.

According to Germaine, he sought freedom in both directions.

Points of Conflict.

There are conflicting points in the police story. La Floutier informed the secret service of the boy's plans against Poincaré and his father. Soon afterward, Philippe was dead. The fold had never been determined.

Contained the bullet that ended his life was not discovered until a week after his death. Daudet claims that the shell was planted in the cab by police when they saw their case for suicide crumbling.

The examining magistrate's deliberations are secret. He will decide whether or not the accused men should be brought to trial. If Daudet can prove his case, its repercussions will be felt from Brest to Marseilles.

Senate Committee Votes To Report Its Postal Bill

Washington, February 11.—The senate postoffice committee today voted to substitute the senate postal pay and rate increase bill for the measure passed yesterday by the house.

Approval of this action by the senate would force a conference between the house and senate on the differences between the two bills which vary considerably on the proposed rate increases. The senate bill also would make the 14th anniversary effective as of July 1, 1924, instead of January 1, 1925, as in the house measure.

PERLMAN IS WINNER ON BALLOT RECOUNT

New York, February 11.—Nathan D. Perlman, republican, was given a possible majority of 117 and an undisputed majority of 26 votes over the democratic candidate for congress.

Dr. William I. Sirovich, in a recount of the ballots cast in the last election, completed today by the board of elections upon demand of Dr. Sirovich following charges of fraud in the original count.

George Rosen, out on bail on an indictment of perjury in connection with charges he made concerning the vote, appeared before the examiners and repeated his first sensational statement recently made to the grand jury that he "fixed" ballots in the first count in favor of Perlman by the aid of a magic ring containing pencil lead.

Results of the recount will be submitted to congress for final adjudication of the contest.

PICKETS OF STRIKERS REMOVED BY COURTS

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 11.—An injunction writ, prohibiting picketing at the plant of the H. Wetter Manufacturing company at South 12th street, Tenn., issued from federal district court here today against striking metal polishers, and Deputy Marshal Huzhett, of Knoxville, left tonight to serve the paper on the defendants.

The H. Wetter Manufacturing company, said to be one of the largest manufacturers of stoves, ranges and soil pipe fittings in the south, employing 600 people, is a West Virginia corporation. The cause of the trouble, according to the application for injunction, is refusal of the company to recognize the union of metal polishers.

POPE AND STATE NEAR SETTLEMENT IS CLAIM

Rome, February 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—The historic breach between the Italian state and the Roman Catholic church, which has existed, despite long-standing efforts to effect a settlement, since Vatican soldiers entered "the papal state" through the Porta Pia on September 20, 1870, is declared to be more susceptible of permanent adjustment now than ever before.

Negotiations looking to an understanding, either in the form of a modus vivendi or a concordat were begun originally by Premier Crispi, chiefly through the Jesuit father, Curcio, and Monsignor Carini, the latter a brother of the Garibaldian general, who was an intimate friend of the great premier. These negotiations, however, failed. Cardinal Rampolla then being papal secretary of state.

The relations between the church and state became so acute that a considerable number of the cardinals after the death of Pope Leo XIII posed to hold the conclave outside of Italy. Premier Crispi conveyed to his sacred colleague the information that all the cardinals would be treated as princes of the blood on their way out of Italy, but he would give no guarantee, respecting their return.

This statement was accepted as meaning that, once out of Italy, the new pope would have to find another city as the seat of the papacy, and state representatives were re-sumed at Paris after the world war by Monsignor Cerretti, who was sent there by Pope Benedict in an attempt to take the papacy out of Catholicism in islands formerly belonging to Germany, and later passing under the mandates of the British, French and Japanese. Monsignor Cerretti at that time had several conversations on the subject with Marquis Della Torretta, now Italian ambassador in London. But even then no conclusion was reached.

GEORGE ASKS TARIFF ON GEORGIA CHEMICAL

Washington, February 11.—(Special.)—Senator George urged the tariff commission Wednesday to afford relief to the state airplane plant by imposing a tariff on sodium silico fluoride, which is unable to compete with foreign manufacturers of this product. Georgia industries are finding it impossible to produce sodium silico fluoride and are being compelled to cease operations.

Sodium silico fluoride is coming from Russia and is used in the manufacture of airplane engines. It has been recommended that the commission impose a duty of three cents a pound in order to enable the American producers to continue in business.

The president has authority to modify tariff rates, and Senator George laid the whole matter before the commission, urging immediate action for relief in view of the acute condition of home industries.

Edgar Demange Dead.

Paris, February 11.—Edgar Demange, dean of the Paris Bar association, died today, aged 84. He was counsel for Prince Bonaparte during his trial for the shooting of the journalist Victor Noir in 1870, and participated in the Dreyfus case from 1894 to 1899. His last big case was chief of the defense in Calvaux before the high court in 1920.

Railway President Praises Prosperity Of Southern States

New York, February 11.—E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley railway, who has just returned from Brunswick, Ga., where he visited for several days with John D. Rockefeller and George F. Baker, of the Millionaires' club, expressed himself as enthusiastic about conditions in the south.

"Our party was genuinely impressed," said Mr. Loomis, "with the progressiveness and prosperity evident in that part of the country. Large sections of the south have advanced wonderfully, especially through water power development, and the extension of transmission lines is making itself felt. Georgia and Florida cities are being built with a spirit reminiscent of the early days of development in the west. I managed to get out without acquiring any real estate, but there is an almost incredible amount of changing hands daily."

This was the first recent opportunity that Mr. Loomis has had to get acquainted with the southern schools.
